THE editors want this modest volume to mean something more than a mere classbook, something more, even, than a breezy epitome of a typical Swarthmore year. We hope that it may also serve as a frail but not unwelcome link between the Camaraderie of to-day and that of yesterday, a link which shall weld our halcyon days with those of all past Swarthmore generations. The 1910 Halcyon, therefore, belongs to the members of every class, from ' 73 to ' 12 , who have, like ourselves, sought the common "staunch and gray" roof-tree, who have here striven in the Swarthmore way-hand in hand-to reach the goal of an education, who have here taken the oath of the Brother-at-Sport, and whose hearts are charged for life with the electric Spirit of Old Swarthmore.

 from 1902.

Ethel M. Albertson, $\mathbb{K} A \Theta$,
Westbury, L. I.
Did you say Ethel was dignified? Yes at leant, she looks so. bint we lave an dea she works a bhifl, for she is said to be one of the worst rongh-honscrs in rollege. Moreover, Ethel stars hoth as student and athlete. aduing much to the honor of cur class. She comes from Long Island. and has the New York brogue down to a fine point-ank her to pronounce worm, and out of consideration for her feelings, don't smile at the fumy little nombl she emits.

Esther Barnes, II B $\Phi$,
Chattanooga, Tenn.
Esther comes from Temmessee, And intinga with her a smile,
That in its flithing coquetry
Man's heart doth oft beguile.

The next time yon meet Esther, ask her what she thinks of Social Equality with the Negro. She will not smile at yon, and her voice will lose its soft, Southern drawl, but be courageons and ank her.

Lawrence Beecher, $\Phi \Sigma \mathbf{K}$,

Newark, O.
On Lawrence (otherwise known as Heury Ward) the Class of 1910 places great dependence. That's why we made him our business manager. His specialty is a pair of brown eyes which look straight at you with a pleading, "Oh, trust me!" in their depths. At least so the girls say -he never tricd to borrow from me. When he was young he must have "stood alone" before lis little legs were stroug enough to bear lis weight. But all the same in athleties he is "some pmpkins."

Georgine H. Blanton,

Philadelphia.

Have you ever heard Georgine recite? If not, you must at once, for she's great. She is the student ai mention of whose name or at sight of whose face Professor Pearson involuntarily expands into an :upreciative smile. What we should do without ber to star in our college plays, no one knows.

This gent with a bay window swell
Has Chemical leanings as well,
He mixes his messes
By wonderful gnesses
And makes everything smell like-the deuce.

George E. Boughton, K :
Tuxedo, N. Y.
. Oh. he's a jolly good fellow ! :
Sobody denies it. for everybody likes George. He is one of our husky lads with a fierce look. which suggests ye aneient liomans. One of Georges few faults is a powerful propensity to roughhonse all his friends and neighbors.

Chris Bockius,

Philadelphia.

Otherwise relept Bachns, with no reference. let $u=$ hasten to add. to any over-convivial proclivities. Rock is one of our uneful huskies, always welcome when a class scrap is on hand. His most valuable asset is a remarkable grin. which is usually working.

Riler A. Bressler,
Tower City.
Riley's prouising black stubble belies a certain infant prodigy air. Riley was marked from birth with musie. He soon got gool control of the bawl (unlike Spitball bradford), gurgling in scales. and passed rapidly but orderly through the stages of jewsharp. month-organ, bone clappers, ete., till he finally scraped up a bowing aequaintance with his friend, the violin. Since then Riley has consistently fiddled away his time. And though of an independent moukl. he will probably "play second fiddle * through life.

Hazel Brown,

Leesburg, Va.

Yes, lazel, you are absolutely right. Lee wa, a greater general than Washington, and why certainly you would hase beaten us if your men had had enough food, and-yes, we'll admit it-you wore yourself out whipping us. For the fair name of Divie, Hazel will stand up and hold at bay all the Vankees in Swarthmore College. If all the Rebels pardon us, Hazel, we mean, the Con-federates-had been as good a lighter as Hazel, the South would never have surrendered.

Louis Hermanu Buek, K ェ,

l'hiladelphia.

Butts (that's his nickname) has developed teasing tentencies this year. You just ought to hear him jolly Martha about Kentucky. Though quiet, Butts has fame in five ristinet lines: (1) As lover, (2) as salor. (3) as skater, (4) as student, and (5) as an all-round gaml fellow.

Simmel .J. ISunting,

Philadelphia.

Thee shouldn't study so much, Sammel. We are getting concerned about thy youthfil welfare, for thee faily launts the studious atmosphere of library and classroums. We were indeed glad that thee condescended to the frivolity of our junior dance. Did thee have a good time-thee and Anna? We all thought yon made an effective looking couple, for thee is slim, and Amma is-well, weoll call it-phump.

Anna Frances Campbell, П В $\Phi$,

Salem, 0 .
"If musie be the food of love. sing on"-thns might we paraphrase, for Ama can certainly make melody with her voice; she is a veritable pillar of the Girls' Glee Club. Won't some one please tell us how she won the soubriquet of "Scamp." We want to know, for such a nickname is hardly in keeping with our conception of this dignitied capable member of student exce.

Sara IV. Chalfant,

Kennett Square, Pa.

Once ulpon a time there was a little girl who was shy and demure, and would never let anyone get a joke on he:. 'That's Sara. All the same, when Sara gets flossied up and goes out in her bubbe, she looks cuite the sport.

Lonise Keene Corkran,

Media, Pa.

"Bang, bang, bang! Positively, I could dance on into heaven, doing the drop. Oh, really, now aren't you just crazy about it?" Just listen to the child! Yes, that's the way she talks. And whenever she goes to a dance in the middle of the week, she appears in classes the next day. arrayed in spectacles. Shame on thee, Louise, for wilfully trying to deceive thy unsuspecting professors. Er-we wonder if thee succeeds.

George Cadwallader Corson,

Plymonth Meetiug, Pa.

Wake up there, George, and brace thy shouldars while thee is about it. Play that thee is the energetic guy-novel experiences are always profitable. Moreover:

Georgie has the auto craze,
In buying bubbles spends his days.
After mending all his cars
On his back beneath the stars,
Perhaps our little George will mend his ways.

Robert Allen Crews, $\Phi \mathbf{K} \Psi$ :

Charleston, Ill.
The cursory way in which Bob dismisses subjects mopleasant to him is only to be rivaled by Dr. Alleman's ability in that line. Thongh Bob generally says what he thinks right out loud, he tries to be careful before the girls. We all like Bob, and enjoy watching him walk. Though not literary yet Bob is particularly fond of the Elsie books. Nutl said.

Alna: Daniels,

Very conscientious indeed is Alma, especially where derman is coneerned. She has been known to spend over five hours on a single assignment. Isint that enough to make a saint groan? She and Elsie will soon do Wagner's complete works at a single sitting if they keep on at their present rate. while the rest of the class plods on with mere fifty page lessons.

Louis Frederick Detrick, $\Phi$ K $\Psi$,

Ruxton, Md.
Louis' three distinguishing points are: () l Ability in temmis, (2) enjoyment of fussing, amd (3) the originality, peculiarity and individuality of his walk. He has a drag with Miss Bates and is a great promoter of ro-educational athletics.

Panline IR. Fay,
I'hiladel hisia.
In the ranks of the discriminating. Panline holds a high place, for did she not decide to leave 1911 and join n*? Iteartily do we welcome thee, Janline, for we need thy ability and fine soholarslip.

Edward Wratson Fell, Ф K $\Psi$,

Ed is the Apollo of our class, and we are justly proud of him. and of the ravishing dimples in his cheeks which have won for him the soubriquet of "Angel Face." Ed is in a chronic state of being incapacitated hy fatigue, but here lately he has been sitting und and taking notice in a way that mggests reform, for many of the artistic knocks which enliven these pages are from his olserving pen.

Elsie Fenton,

Trenton, N. J.
'Truly this maid is our "Gold Elsie" for we could never in the world get along without her. Whenever we need help we turn to this dependable child, and she always does her part. and, what is more, does it well, whether it is in carrying out the mandates of student exec., or in stuling eggs for our class pienies.

Manarumk.

Onr coming viresectionist and doctor whose heart is callonsed to the sight of the knife. "He smiles so sympathetically," you say? Beat it my child, for you are the central figure in a dream of a beantifnl experiment.

When life on our Georgie palls And the saddle of desting galls, He cuts up stiffs.
While horrible whifls
Float sweetly aromed throngh the halls.

Walter Sherman Garrison,

Cedarville, N. .J.
Did you ever see Sherm run? Well, when he stretehes those long, slim legs of his he beats it in a way that leaves the other fellow behind. Sometime get him to tell you about his loating and shooting parties, and also about his wonderful automobubble. Really, Sherm is quite a sport, though not a word of this to him.

Joseph Franklin Gaskill, $\Phi \mathbf{K} \Psi$,

Jenkintown, Pa.

Truly, one of our strong and steady young men. Gack does not like people to know it-he's bashful about it, but I just must tell you-he has peetic aspiratinus, and we feel sure that some day he's going to put it all over Will Shakespeare. He is our editor-in-chief, you know, and one of 1910's most capable and versatile hoys. Once upon a time somebody salid he was conceited, but that was a mistake. Frank will tell you so limself.

Roger l'. Gephart,

Marion, Ind.

Roger has a tender lieart $i$ faith, for his sophomore year when ye night of the paddle came, he went forth and hid in his closet, unable to witness or take part in ye scene of brutality. But really, Roger, if thee had struck a little freshie, we don't believe thee would have hurt him very much. When it comes to his studies, however, Roger is all there. Someone said that once he made only A -in an exam., but nobody believes it.

Blanche Harriet Gibson,

Philarlelphia.

Blanche is that quiet little maiden with the black, black eyes, who is always ready to do "something for somebody quick." She is one of the faithful, and tho professors always know that Blanche has not let her lessons slide in order to make fulge or indulge in frivoling.

"Oh, girls, did you ever dance with Frank? Well, he's just great. One of the boys said he knew it too, but it isn't true, becanse [ asked Frank if it was, and he got indigmant at the very idea." To tell the truth, this "pretty boy from Chester" is (quite an accomplished person. He is famed not only as dancer, but also as athlete and singer. He somewhat suggests the little girl who had a little curl-when he's nice, he's fairly nice, hut when he's peeved. he's horrid.

Priscilla C. Goodwyn, K A $\Theta$,

Robinson Springs, Ala.
The perpetrator of these outrages. Also an exponent of the high ideals of the " Foung Women's student Govermment" as is shown by the end of her nose.

Her friend Bill Bryan can run a few,
And Priscilla has tried tis sad but true;
One day we saw this sportive young lass,
Sprint over from Parrish to Physies class.
1 said "Sprint," but listen, "tis 'twixt me and you,
We hardly knew what she was trying to do.

Anna Bassett Griscom, K A $\Theta$,

1 hiladelphia.

If yon want to get a thing done, go to Amma, for sholl be there with the goods. Anma las her weak points, however, and one of them is her brother. If you want to see her beam with sisterly pride just mention Milton's name.

Beulah Recee Green, $К \mathrm{~A} \Theta$,

Swarthmore, Pa.
Yes, Beulah is another of the peculiar species that insists in working hard and in being conscientions. She's particularly fond of Latin. Now, imagine if yon please, a person with the temerity really to enjoy Latin, and, moreover. without the moral sense to be ashamed of it? Truly, Benhah, thee is in a bad way, but mever mind, perhaps sonte day thee will wake up and see thy lack of wisdom.
samuel J. Gutelius, $\Delta \mathrm{Y}$,

Wallingford, Pa.

Oit, say, y-you d-don’t mean it, S-S-Sam! Did you r-r-really used to s-s-stutter? Well, we c-e-certainly are g-glad yon've quit. Son used to be lazy too, you say? And you have also overcome all rest-cure tendencies? Just calm down, my sou, and cut out rour kidding. The only time you ever get fully awake to the ativities of life is when you strike the road to Wallingford about 2 A.․․

Marv Linton Hallowell, П В Ф,

Jenkintown, Pa.
"Did you see me then? I miss every ball. I am no good at all. What nse am I back here? Oh, there comes another: Did you see me miss that too? Oh, I'm just seared to death." Now, that's the way Mary talles out on the hockey fiell. It's just talk, however. for what we should do withont little Mary to drive balls away from our goal no one knows. She is always in a good hamor, too-no one ever saw her in the dumps.

Every day you will see Eleanor walking up the asphaltum to college, a straight, slim girl with a bright, wide-awake face. The way she asks intelligent questions in class is a wonder. Slee is always arousing our envy and winning for herself approving professional smites.

Bertha Brook Hepworth,

Upland, Pa.

Since the day this ehild entered college, she has never been "unprepared" in a single lesson. And you just ought to hear her in public speaking-she never puts in an "a" or leaves out a "the." In fact, this precision is characteristic, and is most marked in the unfailing regularity of her class attendance. "Une bome Eleve, tonjours presente"-so says Miss Brook.

This is a young maiden most bright, A shining intellectual light;

She also is pretty
And sometimes is witty,
Yet her sense of humor's a sight.

William Lancaster Jenkins, $\Delta$ Y,

Gwynedd, Pa.
Bill hats good taste-he decided that he wasn't willing to go down to posterity as a member of the Class of 1911, so he ascended and joined 1910. He is one of our bright boys-don't look skeptical, for we have some stupendous intellects in our class. When he fimishes college he says he is going to travel; he may go to California, but he will probably wind up in Italy, for he says he feels that he must see Florence.

John Johnson,

Neillsville, Wis.

Long Jom. No, he regrets to report that the relationship to Governor Jolmson is rather re-mote-through Adam, But le hails from Wisconsin all the same. He is our present president. Though his customary expression verges on the somrowful, this vanishes when he gets on the inithal bag and pulls in the wide ones.

Edua Clayton fomes, K K r,

Swarthmore, Pa.

Even if Ehat is quiet and dignified she has plenty of nerve and temper too. Do you remember her rexponse last year when the rude, rash sophomores threatened to overturn our canoe if she did not speedily surrender our strawberries and sambiches? Her only answer was a vigorous and painful application of her padelle to their heals and shoulders. We are proud of the fight Edma put up, and, what's more, that she won out.

Gurden Blodgett Jones,

Swarthmore, Pa.

"Gudgon" was not only born bright, but we feel that he has had additional intellectual ability thrust upon nim. Moreover. Gurden likes to hear himself talk, and generously he wants others to share in his pleasure. His gnawing ambitions are to put it to Dietrick and to shine forth as the world's elampion debater.

Virginia Drysdale Keeney, $\Pi$ :

Philadelphia.

Always laughing except when Dr. Lowes springs an unexpected exam. in English V. Even then she is only saddened down to smiles, so you can inagine what a happy disposition is her lot. Virginia is kept busy these days, for boekey, gymnasium and basket ball eaptains call londly for her services, and she is too grood-natured to refuse. Why, Virginia, if thee keeps on, thee'll be as slender as Harriet by the end of the year-just think of that when gym. grows irksome.

Sara Kelsall Kirk,

Hollidayshurg, Pa.

"How are you, Mr. Cavin? I see you are one of the early birds, and I am so glad to see you back," vigorously shaking hands with the small Presbyterian whose morals were completely disintegrated by the velemence of this "pick up" right in front of his perfectly proper Almal Mater. Really, Sara, thee causes us a great deal of anxiety. We want to advise thee not to go wandering along fourth West, when absent-minded. It's not proper.

Benjamin Kirson,

Philadelphia.

This distinguished looking fellow with the speech of a professor and the face of a poet has heen steadily engrossed since his arrival in climbing a certain hill, Parnassus by mame, while the rest of us loaf near the foot. winded or just nat urally lazy. Ben. Iike Grantell at Oxford, makes a poor subject for joshing. His only peculiarity is his lack of 'em.

James Gibson Lamb, $\perp$ Y,

Baltimore, Md.

Jimmy majors in Public Speaking. Have yon ever heard him speak? Well. don"t, unless necessary. In the summer. Jimmy's family lave tronble in keeping him at home-he is always wanting to return to the Keystone State. Quit thy bhishing. James, we won't tell on thee. (It isn't necemsary. Everybody knows.)

Grace Frances Lee,

Chester, Pa.
Red-haired girls abound in the Class of 1910 , but this is only a mild specimen. As Grace is a day student, perhaps the elements do away with too rivid coloring. Chester is all right, isn't it, Grace? To tell the truth. this 1910 maiden rarely deigns to jemain here with us, but alrays goes hastening back to her historic town as soon as classes are over. Oceasionally she makes a brief call on Prof. Itayes in the library but even that attraction cannot keep her long.

Helen Lukens, K K Г,

Swarthmore, Pa.

Notice llelen some day as she walks up the asphaltum to college. Now, really, hasn't she the artistic look? You can now understand the initials H. l. signed to many of the drawings within this incomparable book. As a class we feel grateful to Helen for letting us have our pienic supper on her porch one evening last spring. The big, wide porch and Helen's hospitality saved the day.

Adelairle Stuart McGinnis,

Adelaide spends a great deal of time in the quitet of her own room. Stulying? Oh, no, indeed! Jar from it. She devotes her energies to the interesting occupation of eating and sleeping. At least so her roommate says, though how poor Adelaide ever gets a chance to sleep with Natalie-of constant speech-for her roommate, we all wonder-and wonder!

Joln McGovern,

rleveland, O.

"Terry" has been owr king-pin whenever a class serap was on. He licked everyborly till Craig siruck this joint in his sojourn here. Never mind, Terry. Craig went to the Olympies for Unele Sam. Jerry is a wizurd with the gloves or on the mats, and as gentle as a lamil if you want to learn the sport.

A risky voung chatheur named Marr Abructed a fem in his carr.

When once beyond Philly.
She said. "This is silly."
This is carrying matters too farr.

You should have invited ma marr.
Tarr diabolically chuckled. "Ha harr!
Thus ma an oceasion of bliss! I'm doin the marrin of thiss ! "
Grinmed this chap-nv-er-own. her Marr.

Melen Christine Marnard,

West Chester, Pa.

" Oh, 1 love you! I wish I conld be with yon all the time. Hnst ron go? Then good-by"and this is followed by a rapturous embrace, for Helen is given to "crushes," serious, intense crushes that add to life's romog zest. Helen has gemuine mosical ability. and we feel sure that if she deroted herself to the study of harmonies, of A flats and $B$ minors, that she would some day thrill thomsand.

Margaret Fulton Means, $\Pi$ 玉,

Swarthmore, Pa.

" How will thee get there, Hargaret?" "Oh. my vousin will take me." Sometimes, it seems to us. Dargaret. that thy consin is worked overtime. He must have a perfectly angelic disposition, but still "you never can tell." Dlargaret is yuiet and inclined to silence. bint you just onght to have heard her in the Freshman-Sophomore oratorical contest last year when she helped us put it all over 1911.

Harold Hutcheon Millar, X $\Psi$,

Millar aspires to be an organizer. Witness the serenade party which he recently captained in South Wharton on the eve of Stranb's majority. Harold is a protege of our model dresser, Bradley. He comes to choply in an immaculate all over white effect. Even his smile is natty and wellgroomed. Harold is a gentleman-card-sharper. He and lrentiss make a gool pair, don't they, Bill? Prentiss doesn't bet, so Harold takes all the moral and financial risks, while Prentiss just stacks the cards.

Hammonton, N. J.

Prentiss Allen Myrick,

The class mathematician and hence treasurer. If ever you cant divide 23874 by 19 on the spur of the moment, just go to lim and he will do it for you. Prentiss is faithful in fulfilling all social duties, but he should join the Friday afternoon dancing class hefore the next 1910 dance. Miss Bates wonld be delighted. Really, Myrick, why don't you ask her to teach you the drop step. We nearly forgot to tell you that Prentiss is our chess pronigy. As he petically voices it. "1 don't care a bit for the Neutiso Gambit, and I'll put it all over Hughes or bust ! " Hres often heard to mutter in his sleep, "Wassy-Borda-gin-my Whitaker-Peny-Petroff. Cheek ! ! ? ! ! ! mate!" He religiously sings hymns when he wins on Sunday, instead of his nsual "Theres a college they call Swarthmore "-substitute "chess" for " foot hatl."

Hattie Knox Pentz,

Du Bois, Pa.

Bring thy head down, Hattie. Even if thee has red hair, don't be so stuck up about it, though we all admit it's pretty. Once upon a time when walking over to Ridley Park, Hattie saw a big, wobhly goose advancing to meet her, whereupon she shrieked and fled. That was a dreadful mistake, my child, for if thee starts to run away from every goose thee meets, thee will be in a chronic state of rapid perambulation all thy life.

John H. Pitman,

Annie Stagg Pollitt,

Paterson, N.J.
Once in student government meeting Amie gave an edifying talk on the sinfulness and the generally demoralizing effect on character development of ponying books-she says she thinks it's awful. Well, we all know that when Annie gets her diploma she will have earned it fairly and squarely.

Comshohocken, Pa.
In moments of frenzy ecstatic
He'll solve complex quadratics,
His gray matter grows
And A's cone in rows,
While our marks are somewhat erratic.

Mary Winifred Rennard,

Swarthmore, Pa.
Winifred is our Greek shark. She is so far advanced that Dr, Appieton has to have her in one class all by her lonesome. Some one said that it was really a toss-up which knew more Greek -Winifred or Apsie.

Jesse is the best-natmed fellow in the class. Although a day student, he is a loyal dass man. and by his leady. watchful playing helped 1910 materially in the base ball games. And Jesse is one of those nervy lolo-ers who dare to undergo Wordd Lit in their Jumior rear.

Frederick Willits Seaman,

Glen Core, N. Y.
Verily, I say unto you, a long and dignified young man.

Maric Sellers, K K Г

West Chester, Pa.

Marie, one of our bright red-haired girls, won all the temmis honors last year. Elated as champion of Swarthmore College, she entered into a kindergarten contest in West Chester, and was ignominously defeated by a fourteen year older. sarie is alwars foremost in college activities. We could never get along without this cheery little person to help us out.

Philip Triest Sharples, $\Delta Y$,

"Shapeless" is not a dippy stude. but he has a way of getting there on the tennis court that is disconcerting to his friends, Dietrick and Wetter. He has a raluable auxiliary to his playing in the shape of a wide-awake mouth. When he finishes college he is going into the newspaper busiuess, and says he is going to get out a special edition of "Belle, the Beautiful Boilermaker."

Martha Ellis Sorars,

Hopkinsville, Ky.

"Kentucky is the greatest State in the Union. and the most famous and-"
"Oh. say now, cut that out. I don't believe in a person's bragging about his own State. I never do it."
"Is that so ?" politely. " You are from Pemusylvania, aren"t sou?"
". Er-yes," uneasily.
" Thy. then, of course rou don't!" srmpathetically. "I understand perfectly."
In addition to a quick tongue, this daughter of Kentucky has a pair of remarkable brown eyes. as you may see from this picture.

Therese I . Spackman, K A $\Theta$,
Riverton, N. J.
Therese is an original mixture of the dreamer and mischiei-maker. She has a good deal of ability in drawing pictures, and an almost superhunan degree of ability in rough-housing her friends, and in playing practical jokes. But sometimes her pranks wind up in an unexpected manner. Does thee remember little T. the time a loving friend washed thy face for thee, washed it so well that it shone and looked really clean for weeks?

The funny man. Heaven decreed that there should never be another like to this youth of witty remarks and expansive month. The following was found in Jimmy's pocket-book:

O popular Jimmy Stone,
The maidens won't leave yon alone;
For wherever you go
They bother you so,
Till you can't call a moment yuur own.—J. A. S.

Arthur P. Tanberg, $\Delta \mathrm{Y}$,

Arthur used to look like mamma's little stiff-necked chernb. but he has undergone a radical change this year. We do not understand the why or the wherefore but, you know things will take a turn.

Jean Hamilton Walker,

Swarthmore, Pa.

The real English accent. Yon just onght to hear her r-r-roll her r's. If she and Priscilla added their $r$ sounding abilities and divided the sum by two each would have very nearly a normal American accent. Besides her r's, Jean is particularly noted for her A's. In spite of her assertion that she hasn't opened the book, an A always falls to her lot.

Marguerite C. Wallace,

Comment vous portez vous. mademoiselle? After freguent traveling in laris and all the other foreign cities. Marguerite has settled down in West Wing to lead a quiet, studious life. The night of the class dance she appeared in decollets, with aigrettes in her coiffure. .Iust think of such stylishmes in little swarthmore! In fact Marguerite does onsider ns rather slow and Quakerish. but how conld it acm otherwise to such a traveler?

Florence E. Wallworth, K K Г
Chester. Pa.
Yes. you are right. Flosie is one of omp popular girla. Everyody likes her; it just maken a pryon feel good all orer to get one of her jolly whole-sonled isnt-the-wordi-a-niceplace smiles. Even if the does take m, a great deal of room. she a amfortable person to bave around.

John Atlere White.

Cossart.
This gonth always gets put on committees.-sometimes he is even made chairman. and then -woe to the luggard! For le sees to it that his feflow-workers are "up and doing" in breathless activity. He truly puts his heart-what he retains of it-into his work, and we regard him a* a mont worthy and reliahle l!日(0-er.

Conrad A. Wickham, K ェ,

Philadelphia.

We are tremendonsly proud of Cony, for, whether he knows anything or not, he is always ready to offer intelligent suggestions. One day Prof. Ifondiey was suggesting the effect of belladoma on the ere. and asked if anyone knew the meaning of the word itself. "A paralyzer," piped up Cony, as ready with an answer as he was ignorant of Latin. "Not so bad, Wiekham," returned Prof. Hoadley, his eyes a-twinkle. "lt means beantiful lady."

Irvana May Wood, H A $\Theta$,
Ridley Park, Pa.
"Just a simple little thing, thee knows." We feel sure Irrana duen not realize the pointed application of this phrase she always employs to describe her clothes. Some one once sald that Nan deserves no credit for being good, as she was just made that way. Truth compels us to add that this person was a mere acquaintance.

Earl Wyon, $\Phi \leq K$,

West Chester, Pa.

This lad claims to spring from "Hugh Wymn." Ean lives in West Chester, and pretends to enjoy it. Sorrel-tops seem to be a West Chester commodity. Pardon, Marie, we'll call it "Elizabethan coloring." Every morning a romantic scene is enacted as Earl goes past Moylan. Ask Rachel. Earl is one of our star pitchers-in the Loys' parlor, I mean. "Tails, you lose; heads, I Wynn," is his life motto.

Oh. I'm true to Kiappa Sig.
And I do not care a Fig
What other styles in swartmore hats you've seen,--
Nines the choicest hero hy far
With its Ilossy his white star
On a "merry widow" brim of red and green.

With plumes of gold
Dy topue is blue.

1HE Scientific Socicty was organized in March, 1595, and later received the name of The Joseph Leidy Scientific Society of swarthmore College. Its object is to keep abreast with the discoreries in the scientific world. There are five sciences includert in the work of the association: Astronomy. Biology and Phrsiography, Chemistry. Engineering, and Physics. The programs of the meetings comsist of a report from the instuctors in each of the above deparmonts concerming the recent discoveries in their respective sciences. Papers are then read by different members on topics of scientific interest, followed by an open discussion by the Society. The interesting character of these programs is shown by the full attendance at the meetings. from both the College and the borough.

The residents of the borongh of Swarthmore are eligible to membership, as well as the students ant officers of the College. The meetings are held on the second Third-day evening of alternate months during the College year.

Swarthmore looks forward to the resumption of football next fall with great expectancy. 'The prospects for a team are very good. Four old men will be back, and with some good material in the present Freshmen class and the incoming one to draw from, Swarthmore hopes to turn out a winning team; or, if not a winning team, a team which will give a good account of itself on all occasions.

The schedule, which has been arranged to conform with faculty restrictions, is as follows:-

Oct. 2. Alumni . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . at Swarthmore.
Oct. 9. F & M. ..................... at Swarthmore.

Oct. 16. Lafayette . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . at Easton.
Oct. 23. Fordham
at N. Y.
Oct. 30. Delaware. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . at Swarthmore.
Nov. 6. Villa Nova. ................ at Swarthmore.
Nov. 13. Ursinus. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . at Collegeville.
Nor. 20. Bucknell . . . . . . . . . . . . . . at Swarthmore.

The team next fall will need, and will deserve, the undivided support of both students and alumni. Give it this support, and Swarthmore will have reason to be proud of her 1909 foot-ball team.

Robert A. Crews.

Thatike Thall

Swarthmore can boast, for the first time, of having a champrionship tean having played an undefeated season of twelve games with none but universities and colleges. The season was short and late, starting in the middle of January and ending in the first week of March. With but two of last year"s temm back, great cedit should be given to Dr. Shell and Captain Griffin, who conched the fellows and produced the desired teamwork. The practices were regular, short, and snappy, and to this, as well as to the unity of the team, is due most of the suecess. Seven of the twelve games were blayed away from home. and, many of these, with teams, which were beaten on their home court, this year, only by Swarthmore; and in some atses with teams which had not been beaten at home Lor several years. The season was also a successful one from a financial standpoint. With no semiors on the team, there is no reason why next year's team should not be a winner.

Edifin J. Johnson.

The lacrosse spason of 1908 was in a great measure successful. Consitering the opposition which the men had to struggle against, they deserve credit, and for this success they received nothing, losing the championship of the United States by only one point, being defeated by Hopkins by a score of 4-3. The Hopkins game this year is scheduled to be at Swarthmore, which in itself is a great advantage. With nine of last year's varsity men in college the 1909 team, with the unqualified support of the student body, should be of the calibre of the championship teams of $1904^{\circ} 05$. That baseball will make its first appearance this spring at Swarthmore should not be a detriment. There are enough good loyal swarthmore men in college to support both baseball and lacrosse.

The season of 1908 was hardly a successful one, for the wearers of the spiked shoes. The Navy were entirely too good for us. Lafayette and the Indians both managed to nose us out by the narrowest of margins, after hotly-contested meets. The relay team proved very disappointing and failed to show anything like their real form.

The showing at the Inter-Collegiates on Franklin Field, proved the only bright spot in the season's work. Captain Krueger duplicated his win of the year previous, and ex-Captain Henrie got fourth place in the 440-yard dash. The absence of these two men deprived us of all chances of victory in the Penna. I. C. A. A. at Marrisburg, the two meets falling on the same day.

This year's prospects are not bright. Many men are gone and Captain Krueger will have to work hard to bring the standard up to that of previous years.
J. A. Miller.

The Tutinght Thrll

Prologue.
Between the daylight and darkness
In the lingering evenings of Spring.
When the sladows and broodings of Winter
Disappear from the ivies that cling
Round the cold gray stones of ond swarthmore,
The earth with new life seems to ring.

Perchance if you stand by the flagstaff
Drinking the wine of the breeze,
You will see on the campus beneath you
The " Home-Life" framed in the trees.

Is it not pretty to watch them,
As they amlessly stroll around
On the carpet of green that the Spring-time
Has prodigally spread on the ground:

Sce that couple beneath the old cherry.
On the bench with the names carred in pairs?
See how sweetly she beams on her comrade:
I really believe that she cares.

Your face has grown reminiscent
And your lips have cursed in a smile,
Yon are thinking perhaps of the long ago
When you fell to a maiden's guile.

Just then by some magic or other
The girl's roice rises high on the breeze:

* That steak, sure, was awful, Billy,

I couldn't scar it, I swear on my knees."

The dome beneath you trembled
As the veil was so rudely drawn,
And your face grown youthful and tender,
Once more shows aged and worn.

You think of the social hours
You had braved in the years gone past.
You didn't swear at the beef-steak While the precious moments flew past.

You talked and built air-castles dainty,
To the sweet co-ed in the gloom,
Till the twilight bell sombrely tolling,
Drove her to the peace of her room.

And then as you climb down the stair-way,
To the tune of the solemn old bell,
That time has mellowed to sweetness
From a fiendish exultant yell;
You think of the lives made happy
And the few that were saddened as well,
Between the daylight and darkness,
Before the "Twilight Bell."

He thought that he was surely home, His breakfast scrved in bed;
He waked and saw just Wharton walls At both his feet and head.
"To Parrish Hall at once," quoth he,
" To get my milk and bread."

He thought he saw, as plain as day
His paper marked with $B$,
He looked again-and woe to him-
`Twas nothing but an E.
"I'll never cram again." quoth he,
"It doesn't pay, you see."

He thought he saw a flock of geesc
A-waddling on the green,
the looked again and mbbed his eyes.
A hockey game was seen.
" Such grace has never been, quoth he,
"Displayed on any team."

He thought thace was a thunder storm Arising in the West:
He cocked his ear and merely heard The glee club at its best.
" Thank hearen's," he cried, " I am not one Of that discordant pest.

He thonght we'd won a goal from Penn,
And cheers rang to the sliy,
He lookel again, heard very plain
Old Prexy's voice, on high,
*The subject for debate to-night is Marbles, how and why?"

"Hélas, mon ami, I leel yet the shock!" and " Major "Horace shrngged his scliolarly shoulders, half" languidly, half angrily, altogether Frenchy. One might think that Horace owed this martial sonbrignet of Major to the same sort of euphonious deference to which the average Alabama "Colonel" owed his otticial title: * for he was not overly martial of carriage (tho" l once heard him ealled quite fierce looking). But no! He really won his insignia for bravery in Jinguistic manœuvres. Entering the 1912th Swarthmore Infantry, Division A, Horace soon became a full-fledged Major (the only male one) in the French Amazon eorps, under the command of Général Bronk, otherwise known as the Swarthmore Joan of Arts.
"As you are doubtless cognizant," Horace went on, Général Bronk, la Grand Mademoiselle, holds an elegant salon, once or twice a year, up in our' 'Salle des Alumni,' the armory where our "Idol-smasher," le Duek de Holmes, is daily wont to drill us in mental fencing, 'materials of destruction,' and all that pertains to the tactics of Christian warfare. This armory, with its er-er-er mural mosaic of past swarthmore legions, - perlect unity, yet intinite rariety-is truly a fitting enviromment for the Cerele Francaise.
" The "raison d'être of this "petite assemblée "as the General modesty characterized it, is in her own concise phraseology, • En min mot, -and he proceeded to moload the French language on me at the rate of a dictionary to the minute.
"Dam it," meaning the flood of your eloquence. "Talk American; youre a Niagara when you lapse into your native palaver."

He switched off without a hitch, in the middle of his sentence,-" and to introduce into Swarthmore that divine clarity which we call 'la langue francaise;' in place of the valgar jargon, which, with a few exceptions (bowing and eoughing himself delicately inside the pale of the élite), with a few humble exceptions, seems to be the er-er-er eurrent modicum there."
"Now I must frankly aver that the Cercle has never been select and exclusive enough for a complete consummation of this holy end. For the Général, yon needs must know, is a woman of very wide, in fact, of cosmopolitan sympathies, and her list of local acquaintances

[^1]er-er quite parallel the er-er roominess of her heart, and that is how Messrs Blatz, Bochius and Jonès happened to be suffered within the er-er precincts of the sacred Cercle last night. Pah! Had I dreamed that we were to be farored (" and Horaces classic proboscis wrinkled up as tho it smelt an evil memory.") to be favored with the er-er collective invasion of these coquin, I should have remained chez moi if only to sare my French ear from total anniliation by their er-er combined cacophony.* Horace paused for breath, and so did I. Where a subaltern of but six months, and in an Amazon colps at that, could pick up ammunition enough for such a broadside, got me.

He opened fire again. Diable! The rery name Blatz exudes stale beer and pretzels, while the sole claim he has to French culture, is that his grandparents hailed from that particular prorince of France whose capital is-Berlin! Monsieur Bockius is chiefly remarkable for a sardonic, crafty leer. which has become perpetual. so that when he is not actually "stinging" you with some uncouth epigram, he seems to be preparing one and anticipating in adrance the bliss of getting it off. Both Blatz and Bockius are of an embonpoint quite portly: and most incompatihle with French culture. And Jones is equally grossier : there is nothing spirituelle about any of them, no innate culture reflected in their er-er bodily habit.
" All three coquin had evidently trained strenuously for the event, as you would put it, for each said his one ur two little stock words of greeting correctly enough, except that Jones was forced to beat time with one hand while shaking hands with the other, in his frantic endeavor to eatch something akin to la Général's exquisite rhythm, in lyrie phrases like," (with affectionate notiom and in perfect form.) t harace sang something like this,-

This merry Andrew, also, having gleaned somewhere that it was a custom of the Seventeenth Century Précieux for one to oceasionally forget the rude cognomen which fate had bestowed on him thru the agency of bourgeois-minded parents, and to adopt more poetical ones.-what does this coquin do but greet the assembled ladies with outlandish paraphrases of their worthy names. such as Mlle. Automobile, for Mlle. Ste(e)lWagon, and MIlle. Oiscan de Proie for Mlle. Mawke.
" Bockius straightway hied his hulk to the wall. from [^2]whence he refused to budge, lolling there all the evening, grinning like a gargoyle. He frankly avowed to me that he was arraiting developments in a er-er refectionary way, and later, after the glace and champagne had been served, his place became vacant, at the wall. From the incoherance of his verbiage, it was obvious that he had imbibed "not wisely but too well," true to his name. * It is doubtless fortunate that he took to the open to recuperate.

- Blatz soon enseoneed his Ealstallian self in the center of a throng of Amazons, and poured forth the most shocking mixture of American barrack slang. Pennsylrania Dutch, and barbarous French. When stuck for a French word, lee would beckon to the ceiling and whistle down down some hideous impropriety. He didn't speak six consecutive French words.
" La Général," shocked, but wishing to be courteous said, "ma foi, que vons êtes un hel esprit;" and this fou answered, "you bet I'm on a spree, et je ne care pas qui le sait!" Did you ever hear such er-er Thomas-decay as that in your life!

Shortly alter the salon began, I was urgently besought by the assembled Amazons to render a passage from that martial epic, Corneille's "Horace." l was rising-er- to the occasion, and bowing a dignified acceptance, when Blatz whispered raucously, and most ambibly, "Gran. spiel away, out wid yer Horation "and the absolute awfulness of this er-er bum mot--pardon!-mauseated me so that I quite forgot my opening rerses. Afterwards, Jonès insinuated that this was due to embarassment, and that la grande Mademuiselle had actually been forced to er-er-cacchinate there at. $\dagger$ Now Mlle. la Général was hidden from me by a great Guthic pillar, the famous Pillar de Holnes, along Which te buck, from time immemorial, has been wont to streteln his massive back. while drilling his receuts in Christian warlare, and conserpently, I could not swear to the fact, liut I am morally sure that she would not treat her only male major that way.

Then I heard that impudent Jones, who must have known that Horace was a special farorite with Mlle. Newport, the leader of the Latin corps, say, with a jucose wink:

- IIme. Porte-Nouvelle,"-
". Translate it." I cut in.
* Did you imagine I'd befoul my mouth by repeating any of Jones French-Jones said, ' Il me. Porte-Xonvelle, what was it onr Major got rid of " Something from Horace, that ote-fons leblow: No: Inome was the name of the drama. Oh! Any how, there were two Horaces

[^3]mixed up in it, which was too, too much!'-Now mon ami did you ever hear such er-er er-er Thomas-decay?"

To close the evening, la Général inaugurated a little game; all sit in a circle, a Cercle Francaise-ha-ha!Pardon, and each in turn, repeats- "Jaime."
"Cut it, Horry!"
" ' I love $m y$ love with an A because she is '- then supply some word beginning with $A$, and so on thru the alphabet,-whoever is unable to characterize his love in eloquent adjectives dropping out of the circle. Now the correct way is to call your love "amiable," or 'belle,' or 'jolie,' etc., and then to beam impersonally upon all the assembled Amazons.
"Jonès survived till Q. Then an idea struck him. Gazing rapidly at la Général, he murmured 'J'aime mon amour aree nn Q parce qu'elle a quarante ans,' then seeing his error, he plunged still deeper. 'Quatre-vingt ans! "
" 'Aw gwan,' says Blatz, who had not caught the byplay. 'We know yer grandmother is a nice old lady.'
"Jonès ran from the room in desperation, yelling 'vingt-quatre, vingt-quatre! '
"The salon was in confusion. Should I challenge Jonès for the honor of the corps? The ! ! ! ! !
"Diable! Sacre bleu! ! ! ! ! !-! ! He rolled his eyes aloft in a very cursory glance. ! ! !'It is a strange fact that one always cuts loose in one's native tongue; therefore, knowing but little French, and realizing that French would be Horace's medium for at least a half-hour, judging by the color of his face. I vamoosed."

Once on a time old 1909
Rigged out in grand array, sir;
Decided on a warm spring night
To feed the fresh they say, sir.
They got a wagon large and strong
so Coble could sit in, sir;
And jolted down to Morton town,
To get the ice-cream tins, sir.

Now early on that selfsame day
The class of 1910, sir ;
Had copped the prex of 1909.
And watched him with two men, sir.
Then rose the class of 1909
(They're bob-tail sports I think, sir):
That's not the John he's just a con
They said without a blink, sir.
Some sportive lads and lassies, too,
Hid all the miner's clothes, sir ;
Clean shirts and skirts and other things.
I'm told by those who know. sir:
Fat Coble raged along the hall
Without a bloomin' dud, sir;
Wrapped up in oaths instead of clothes,
A spittin' fire and blood, sir.

This snappy class (they're Seniors now)
Scared half-way from their wits, sir ;
Now sent to Chester for some cops,
To give these tenners fits, sir,
The cops they came with stately mien
And courage small withal, sir;
The one was fat and short at that
The other lean and tall, sir.
Soon Prexy made the " willy-boys"
Send back the "bobs " in blue, sir;
Such sport he thought was out of place
When ringers came in too, sir.
So 1909 forgetting war
And thinking naught but peace, sir,
Came on their knees to ask us please
To let them have their feast, sir.

We granted this in gracious mood,
Without a thonght of guile, sir.
But 1909. just like its looks.
Is cut in crooked style, sir.
Still if yon ask a Senior now
And he this tale denies, sir:
You know he"s sore, so say no more,
For on my oath he lies, sir.

It was hard to recognize the staid Quaker City thus letting itself go into the excesses and gayeties of a stret fair. Who would have thonght it? I looked up Market Street and could hardly see anything for the mass of confetti and the laughing, giggling mob. I was considering the advisability of beating it back to my hotel. for fifteen years had added to my aroirdupois and I did not feel equal to the job of seeing the sights. when I caught sight of a familiar pair of ears in the crowd.
"Hie there!" I relled. "Gack. my Golly. but I am glad to see yon."
"Where in Samhill did you drop from?" and Gack wrung my hand in a way which showed the years had not lessened the might of his grip.
"All the way from my native heath-But in the name of your Quaker ancestry, what are you doing in this crazy concourse. Aren't you afraid your morals will be corrupted?" and I grinned as I remembered the beautifnl way in which Gack used to give sentiments in meeting.
"Oh. cut the comedy." said Gack. just as he used to do. 'Come on with me to a moring picture show. I've seen it once, but it’ll bear seeing again. It's great. It will take rou back to college days all right. You know how famous Norman Ashe. Con Wickham and Fred Simons are.-well. this show just gives the greedy populace a chance to see them as they were. Come on."

Presently I saw hnge bill-posters announcing: "A glimpse into the College Days of Swarthmore's Three World Famons Men. Norman Ashe, the monderful Tauderille Artist. who. by his lancing has become the marvel of the stage: Conrad Wickham, one of the Greatest Reviralist Preachers of all ages. and Frederick Simons, the Remarkable Jockey, who has never lost a race." We went in and and the manager began to explain.
" Ladies and gentlemen," he said, " it is our purpose to present a series of pictures which will give you a clear and adequate impression of a typical college day of these great men. It is always interesting in life to see men grow and derelop and a comparison of these men as thes were in the adolescent days of college life with what they represent now of progress and achievement will be both beneficial and delightiul. First, we show Mr. Norman Ashe."

We looked and saw. It was five oclock in the morning. Norman, just arisen, was reading il chapter from his Bible, after which he began the study of many books.

The next picture showed him walking, lickity split, orer to fire Dr. Lowes' furnace.
"You must know, my friends," the manager waw saying, "that Mr. Ashe was an ambitions and praiseworthy young man. working his wiy throngh college in most unprecedented fashion. In the following picture we see him waiting on the tables, - notice the dignified manner in whish he brings in the tray, utterly imperrious to the flirting glances of the maidens. Next we see him in the class-rom, silent, attentive, rapidly taking notes, an object of adoration to his professors and of envy to his fellow students. Here we see him reading the bulletin board,-one of his few dissipationshere writing a letter to mother and the children. Next we see lim pained and grieved as he beholds a classmate disgracing the tacitly-understood-honor-system of the college. Here we see him studying. Now he is going out for fresh air. He has returned and again he studies. My friends, it should inspire the young men of our country to see the conscientiousness and carnestness with which Mr. Ashe applied himself to his college work. Mr. Ashe was opposed to dissipation of all lind and here we hehold him transfixed with horror as he sees some of his classmates engaged in a five-hundred booze with tooth-pieks for stakes: it always distressed him to sce young men thas go astray. Again he studies. It last it is twelre oclock: he cerses work and retires for a few hours of well-arned wiose.
"That's just the way old Norman used to do." I said, and Gack wrung my hand sympathetically.

" Now, my fricnts," continued the manager. " behok him as he is to-day, the most graceful and artistic phenomenon on the American stage."
"Ie healthy gods. but 1 never thought Norman could do that!" and I gazed open-mouthed at the sight of Norman bending, twisting, jumping and kicking in a light and Airy, Fairy Lilian fashion that put the classic interpretations of lsadora Duncan in the ten, twenty thinty class.
"And he has a wig on too," I murmured, leaning on Gack for support. "The tights were bad enough, but the wig" -and I groaned as Norman gave a kick that brought down the house.
"Next on the program, ladies and gentlemen," continued the manager, "is the Reverend Conrad Wickham.

The first picture gives him as he peacefully sleeps in bed at i.30. Next we see him as he rushes downstairs at fifteen and one-fourth minutes of eight. tying his cravat. and at the same time. it grieres me to tell you, my friends, using intemperate and expressive language.

Here we see him at the breakfast table, as he gently jollies the maidens, making remarks hoth witty and wise and causing their hearts to flutter by the fervent glances of his honest-7ooking gray eyes. Here we see him in the hall. conversing with his fellow-students; he had a manner eren then that appealed to men and boys in spite of the sad fact that he was not brilliant in a scholastic way. I dislike to record it. but it was sometimes said he was quite an adept in er-bluffing his trusting professors. His troubles. howerer, came thich and fast at cxamination time, and it is said that he sometimes did not get straight A's. In this picture we see him absorhed in deep thought,-he has a quiz the next hour with Dr. Allemagne, a professor not noted for equability of temperament. He is rondering what excuse he can make, as he has not studied for it. Here we behold him in the class-room. Dr. Allemagne, asks a question. The Rev. Wickham speaks, but his answer does not seem to please the Doctor.
""Take less time to say you do not know it." he thunders. 'and tell me. moreorer. why you have not prepared this lesson?
"'Why. doctor." and the Rev. Wickham looks straight into his eyes, 'I became so interested in reading my English that I forgot to study for you. I'm sorry, but it's true.' Dr. Allemagne sits down suddenly in his chair. Here we see him playing foot-ball, there walking downtown. here singing,-he always had a fine. strong voice, the voice that has saved the souls of thousands.
" In the next picture we sce him rough-housing his friend, Tod, his dear friend, who, as you all know, has been of such valuable assistance to him in his ministerial work. It is now after dimner and we see him snggesting to some friends that they go into Keith's. He has returned-it is one o'clock. He kicks off his shoes, tmms out the light, and dives for his bed. It is sad, my friends, but not one lesson has he prepared for the following day."
"How did old Con ever manage to graduate anyway?" I asked Gack. "And when did he do it?"
" In 1913," returned Gack.

" Now ladies and gentlemen," pursued the manager, "cast your eyes upon the Rev. Conrad Wichham of today as he exhorts the ontcast and the sinner and brings them back into the fold of righteousness, as he comforts the widow and the orphan, as he makes the young man retrace his steps from the gambler's den back to his mother"s knee."

"Yes, that was Con, no mistake; in spite of the long frock coat, white tie, rotund person and sanctimonious face."

Simons on "Black Nelly."
"Things will take a tum. won't they?" snggested Frank. 'And Fred's worse than any of them: Fred who we all thought would be a shining literary light or president anyway. It's certainly the that you never can tell."
" And now, my friends," again the manager"s roice rose, " we come to the final gentleman on the program, Ilr. Frederick Il. Simons, the most tamous jockey who has ever lived. In this first picture we see him as, just after breakfast, he rushes from his home to the college, -rou observe, ladies and gentlemen, that his walk is-er-rather umsual, as strenuous as the recent campaign in which Mr. Brran was defeated for the tenth time. Next we behold him in the Phwnix room holding a meeting with the other members of the stafl. There. in this corner you catch a glimpse of Lee Coble, who has bectutly been established as head of the Engtish department at Harvard. Next to him is Miss susame Willetts, who has succeeded Carrie Xation in the great work of tuming humanity aside from the pathe of drunkenness. In this next picture we ohserve Mr. Simons earnestly adrising the faculty as to the ways and means of keeping the college machinery in smoothly ruming order. Mr. Simons was indeed an exceptional romng man in every sense of the word. It is due to the ardor with which he applied himself to the interests of the college that Swarthmore represents such active progress tu-dar. Here we see hinn writing editorials, here rushing into the eitr to the printer"s with Phomix proof. cutting chass in order to do it. it is trme. my friends. but ret it was for a worthy cause. Here he is. as he flies back to see if the college is in order, here as he sends a cablegram, suggesting to Emperor William the inadrisability of certain mores. Here we see him conferring with President swain in regard to the athletic condition of the college. Here we see him in the erening as he reads orer the literary contributions by the students. after which he consoles himself by a perusal of all the college publications of the world. in pursuit of original ideas as nourishment for that skimy lird, the Phonix. Here at last we behold him late at night, wearr, exhausted as he falls * asleep. trying to erolve a solution for "The Problems of the Western Hemisphere."
" Poor o.d Fred." said Gack with tears in his roice. * He used to bother too about the benighted condition of Asia and Africa. and wish he conld lend a helping hand to Europe."
" And now, my friends." concluded the manager, " in this. our last picture you see 11 r. Simons as he urged - Black Nelly ${ }^{*}$ on to the victorious end of the most exciting and hair-raising race efer rum. Notice how he Jises in his stimups, how he whispers in her car, how he pats her lovingly. understandingly on the neck. And beholel him as lue attains the goal! ’"
$"$ It"s all orer." said Gack. "Good, don't you think?"
" Al? to the mustard." l retumed in the vernacular of fift"en years ago. ." But who in thunder would ever lave conctised of dignified old Fred in a striped yellow jockey suit:" "

There's a class unknown to history, but well known to you and me,
And from present indications most distinguished it will be.
Little thought we last September. When we saw you, one and all
In your newly fonnd dominion, wandering bout old Parrish Hall,
That such fresh greeu spots of nothing, could contain within their pates,
Any knowledge, which conld make them worthy of their college states.
But we let you stay among us, tanght you how to dig and delve,
And at last we're glad to hail yon as the Class of Nineten Twelve.
You've been rery enterprising, led by us, your sister class.
For our excellent example none could ever quite surpass.
You've endured the hazing bravely, paddles. tannels, Crum and all.
And you've shown the mighty Sophomores that you're not so rery small;

For you won the keg rush easily, and as to your basket ball
Why the other poor old class teams, were laid out against the wall.
In your base ball and your hockey, you soon suffered sad defeat,
But you can't expect all victory, nor always others beat. You're quite fond of early rising, so we've found out from your tricks
For your picture was at seven, and your class meeting at sir.
What a feed the girls devoured over there in Whittier Hall!
While big jolly Ruth Verlendeu lurnished amusement for you all.
You're a heady lot of youngsters, this we really must admit-
But beware of any false pride. never think that you are "it."
lou are a most mixed collection, big and little, short and tall.
And I really can't take time to mention anything about you all.

But I might remark a little joon some very striking facts
Which were brought before our notice without need of any axe-
There's that Ayres girl, have you wer heard her tell a funny joke?
Well may heaven preserve you from it, if you do not wish to croak.
And that long-legged Ferguson, who tries so hard to swear,
With Goldsborough, before the fire sang to the ladies fair.
Now Edith Tracy as you know's a nice plump comentry girl.
Su'tis not strange a Miller's loy should like this hashing pearl.
In basket-lall, Smith is a star, and Gildhrist ton. We locar;
'Too had, that such heroes as these. for maidens have a tear.
Them Ruth McNeil-there is no dombt shes freshest of the girls.
To sce her coming down the hall rom'd think she owned the world:
Speaking of her. I might remark on Hasting's fussing score.
The girls he's had in West Chester, would fill a book or more.

The His in the class are many, and Hackman heads the list,
He's such a wholesome German boy, that is just wass er ist;
And Harturan's turned the dippy stude, he used to be a fusser,
And Hoopes is still as big a sport and fast lecomes a rusher.
Loraine and Raymond certainly do love to study hard, They go down to the library and read books by the yard.
You'll find then there at evening and sometimes in the day,
When interrupted, blushes come and Raymonds " What you say?"
There's a likeness in the class that is positively rich:
Phube and Lx̣dia are the maids, now tell me which is which.
The Garers are the sonthern gills. with manners so beguiling,
They re won the hearts of two young swains, who now are ever smiling.
To Princeton, one tine day they went to see a foot ball game,
The auto burst a tire or two, so walking home they came.
Carolyn has a dreadful time arranging her coiffure.
If Amy was'at by to help. what would become of her:

But Amy couldn't quite make right "Buzz" Farley's injured eye,
He's lelt us for a little, but he ll be back bye and bye.
Sam Phipps can pole vault like a streak, and dances too, you know;
Lon has been teaching him the "drop," with balance high and low.
Dick Murfit generally looks the gentleman, all right.
But did you see him round the fire that splendid foot ball night?
He brandished fiaming torches high and danced about in glce,
Like something in another world upon a happy spree.
Now, "Billy" Bartlett, as she's known down south, in Baltimore,
Gesticulates in such strange ways as ne`er were seen before.
We do mot see why " higl, grass " is a name for William Price,
Although it suits him better than it would wee Joseph Stites.
Laur. Sharples has a Packard, it's a beanty you must know,
He'll soon get a White steamer unless he's very slow.
Horace Jenkins has become a full fiedged college fusser ;
But Denworth still remains the same, hees not much of a gusher.
'Tis quite a strange coincidence to have a Scull and shinn,
To see them in Biology, would really make you grin.
Minnie has a host of suitors coming at her beck and call;
While Martha Soyars dotes on Louie even if he is so small.
Alice Stover comes from Jersey, but it can't queer her with Ed;
Russell T'ylor plays the worries till he's crazy in the head.
There, are many, many others whom we've passed by in the class;
Many whom we'd like to mention, but this 's too near the last.
What an enviable record in so very short a time,
What a list of deeds and conquests in this very humble myme.
You're a class well worth the claiming, and we're proud that you have come,
Prouder still that you are ours, and that we may help you on.
In all victorics of the future, may your women and pour men,
Look back fonlly to their leader, the great class of nineteen ten.

Herr Hauser vin efenings der Nofember of tranrig aroundt wandert. Ile was sehr vat to do undecided. Nodings seemed him to interressant. Somehow he foundt himself mit himself alone in der peaceful schlafzimmer ul' der Herr Detrick so der time to pass meanviles he seizedt der bettkleidern in his hand andt tragt them der Bedt himauf andt distributed them aroundt promiscons. This vas sehr foolish andt premeditated criminal as der Herr Detrick vas nicht zu Hanse: vere vas lee: Ach Gott allein weist! Anyrays it vas kolt outsides andt der wind ristled like sixties aroundt der gorners.

Herr Hauser vas mit himselyes much pleazed andt toldt uf his choke mit great gusto to Herr Guggeheimer: who lift mit him.

Der ras yun grosser hole der transom hinein so Herr Hanser mit stringks a baskel macht uber it as he beliefedt that ron Herr Detrick revenge might gontemplate. He pullt der stringks monch tight andt pullt hardt (in der basket. It heldt. He getodet himself sehr on der roresight wat he possessedt andt chuckledt much. " Das Detrick guy gannot that poosh hinein," he sagte. " It ees too strongk andt pesirles he vill not see it." He then climps into der Bett vile Herr Guggenheimer gedts up, as be vas in some slight doubt as zu der Resuldt his baddle of, hidt his books andt some things valuables and glose to his heardt. He there also pesides climbt into der Bett andt addrest himselfs to sleep.

Der Glock said das it vas chust funf und zwanzig minndtes twelve after ven Herr Guggenheimer, a pre-

"In the beginning was chaos."
The Diet of Cards, a new breed of progressive card game in the boys' gym. The Prof's deal. Idea:-

Relative Proportions of the Old Student and the New Prof. As seen in September
N.B. If the orchestra will kindly faror ns with some Eliza-Crossing-the-Ice music, we shall draw a thick and heavy curtain over the companion picture for June.

1. To save poor old Alec. 2. To exclude ringers-for any one unable to spell his name consistently six times ranning is a suspicious character. 3. 'To impress upon the jelly-like brains of our 1912 kindergarten their extreme verdancy ly showing them. Bon 1892, ClassFreshman, etc., on hackgromnds of every shade of green. (A nifty device, approved by the famous psychologist, Baldwin.)

Ducky handles the paste boards like a shark. Fie! A long crack-the-whip string of fresh in front of Doc Lowe's faro-table. Poor innocents, they know not what they are getting! Husky fresh (Remale) to Prof. Hoadley. "Is this the Physical Culture Table. Mademoiselle lonlding a salon by the running track. Group of fussers. headed by Diet, getting a line on the co-ed " eligilihities." Look more cheerful.

P. M. Same prelim. course in pemmanship and antohiography.

Night of 23 d . Paster eve. Our good little comrades of '12 got busy and sared the heantiful Swarthmore landscape from deliguration hy the hidenus wind-andbombast cartels of 1911. Garey girls rats contiscated.

The 24th. Opening Day, Collection, Gencral air of speculation among the fresh as to which of the imposing row on the platform are their " "hect." Prexy counsels the babes. A Blessing has come to town and it made gond in a rattling speceh. Changes in faculty announced. "Miss Hall, of the Latin department, has left college to enter a life-partnership with Supt." Cheers.

Fresh rambling up and down Parrish. Sophs sympathetically directing them to the museum for English I, cross-comntry to the Science Building for biology. ete. Ererywhere excited, panting Fresh on the hunt. Cain and Miller obtain pennies to matelı by getting piouslooking Fresh to "contribute" into the box in the Phœonix door, telling him that the Phœuix was the chief Christian inthence at Swarthmore, and hard up.

Fresh from local high and prep. try not to look selfconscious when they meet. Fresh gazing with critical abandon at the sprightly ( $(:)$ art pieces that adorn Parrish's wall. Everywhere assumed cheerfulness and concealed nostalgia.

The 25th and 26th. (Evening.) Courses under Prof. Hayes in vogue. Same old dodges. Sophs awfully tame and un-original. Johnny White and Garrison feel big and exereise their upper-class prerogatives-try to rescue Dilliston. Doctor Speakman receives an impromptu visitation while eating his dinner. Goldsburg revives memories of Harrey Woddrop and establishes himselt as the freshest Fresh. Freshman frolic in Somerville.

2ith. The ancieut and ornery order of the Paddlessacrilegious but exhilarating. Warranted to promote a healtly circulation, and, especially, to bring out any latent sprinting ability in the initiatce. For without the glowing stimulus of the paddles our Terrel, our Henry. our Baker. our Larry and our Garry might have ever remained mere sluggish students. But speed will ont on such occasions.

The 28th. P. M. Keg Rush. In the preliminary wrestling matches, Goob Ashton (12). managed to elude the urgent embraces of the buxom Perk. Tow'd Miller, by the sly ruse of suggesting kindly that Phipp's clothing was disarranged. finally distracted the aforesaid's attention a monent and threw him. Tod Eberle threw Ferguson (12), after many endeavors to break Dons long and rubbery neck. In the rosh itself. the Fresh had kegs of fun with the Sophe: though a motley crew. As usoal. (with the glorious exception of last years struggle. Which the ieferes wom), the Fresh wom " lande down." The Sophe conceived the machiavelian stunt of rolling the keg back into their crowd at the pistol crack. Tow d Miller made himself immortal by grabbing three fresh at once. one ber the collar. and another ber the shirt-tail, and the third by the heel. Such three-handed stunts may seem abmormal-but nothing is impossible to Tow'd when inspired. This was the first chance fow the Fresh to get back at '11 for last week's imdignities, and they took full adrantage: ontside the pile. many a Soph had the privilege of furnishing a nice imivitual hobby-horse for a sharp-knced jouncing Fresh.

Tenth month 1st. Fresh Class meeting, 6 A. M. I guess that's going some!

The 3rd. President's Recention. Ill the Fresh hors in evidence. The way to reach a 12 man is throngh his stomach, rather than hie clase snirit, perhaps.

Tenth month 5th. '10 put the skibunk to the aspiring Fresh. When the seore-keepers gare out, it stood 11 to 1. (Coble makes it 16 to 1 , but this is not official).

Connie and George were in evidence with their big sticks, while our rersatile editor was on the firing line. A couple of windows were done for in the ll"s sanctum.

Erening: baselall semi-nfficially appored.

Temth montl ith. Bradford the spit-hall genios of '11, saw that his only hope was to allow the Fresh to lat so long that five imminge combl not be finished lefore dark. It a'most worked. But 12 eanght on and kicked. Result. 19, 9: ‘11. 0.

Tenth month 9th. 10 stings the Millerites-winning the college championship-11 to $\therefore$. (Were getting rather stuck on that erpptic nomber 11). Conmie cracked out a lomer with the bases full. the thing ron reat about. but never see. Tesse was there with his welal conscientious. heady work in the field and on the bases. We all hit, thongh Jay was " pitching all the time, hoy." Cobl delighted the co-eds with rosincel-lightning catches on the cinder track. Following serenth-day. Frankford, 5: Swarthmore, 2. " Holge's Bunch,"

Dates are harlly elastic enongh fom Shapless threeweeks tennis tommament. Suffice it to say that Sharpless again squelched the ambitious Dict and Pud, though they got there again in the douhles. Gudgeon, the great would be, fell by the wayside.

Swarthmore, March 10tl, 1909.
Editor Halcyon:-Who suppose he got all dope he inquire, but here goes.

Dear Mr. Sir Gak:-
Cousin Ohsai just fell in this afternoon. "We have first big gain of bascball seazon," ate openter for Ohsai : " thank to much strong boostings of Mr. Hodge, smartest ball-man in hole alumni body "-
"First big game of baceball," 1 mingle in. " Go toward, Ohsai! The weather are been sulficient cold to froze even brass lungs of ball-man Hugh fennings. All smartest bal(d)-men of country, concluding Hon. Bill Tatt had to get inoculaterl inside hon. Senate for escape Teddy-Roo-matiz and dippe-theories. Why tor your smart ball-man Hodge lave newe to give swarthmore such a new-mania?" "

I almost dawn across it.
"But," I dally fortli, "where is hon. loyal alumnuses? :
" Hon. Hodge stipellate," Ohsai contain, "that Swathmore ball-team must be respecktable, self-smpporting fambly."
"How by?" I remand and take on cquestionable attitudes of akimbow elbo. "I'm from dear old Penn, and you've got to give me show! "•
"I will depick the whole scheme Ohsai dib." Shut duwn! Just give ear! We had a reg-lar circus! Ohsai make mouth like megyfone and tung like fumygraf"Well, well, well!"-at toj, lung.

I queery in panic-strike. "Does it affick ron often ?"

Ohsai expond cool. "Your hon. humble serrant, being hon. member dehate-team, was request to bark." He erupt again. "Well, well, well! Are you can take a joke, are you can take 1000 jokes-all in one evening. all for so cents: Well ! well ! well ! Mavhe we don't take the cake. but we ve the best show on earth. Ohsai, Ohzai. Ohsai! ## ON ACCOUNT OF A BOX

I was springing up fourth floor stairs, five steps at a time, eager to reach the top whence issued sounds of conflict. I heard some one say, "Throw it down." I saw a big, black box descending toward me and then-
"Get on your job, Dick," called Bill, "and come on down to the pond. Skating's great."

As I went down the stairs I began wondering what had come over the place. The stairs were white and the walls bright green, and than hastily and nimbly mounting the stairs, skipping np two steps at a time, came

Miss Bronk, wearing a red calico dress, and with her hair parted in the middle and done low on her neek. she ceased whistling to demand, sourante:
" Mon enfant, pense-tu qu'il fait froid anjourd' hui?"
"Oui, oni," I respondis nervously.
"Alors pourqnoi allez-rons dehors?"
"Jemy-Say pas," I dis avee desperation, and hurry on, wondering what in thonder had struck the femme. As I passed by the pet, there sat Ducky and Miss Bates, both with lovely directoire shapes.
"After all," Ducky observed," I believe the whale did swallow Jonah"
"I am of a gentle and credulous nature," softly responded Miss Bates," but $I$ can't swallow that "big fish story." "
"This is awful," I murmured, as I issued fortlı from the college door and saw Esther Baldwin roller-skating down the asphaltum, not even stopping for the steps. And who was that jost in front of me, with his hair plastered down and, like Miss Bronk's, split in the midthe? Al Miller, by Jore! And, on my word, he was a remarkable looking object. Here came l'rof. Hoadley. I sighed with relief, but he passed me by with a stony stare, the twinkle gone from his eye.

The sight that met my gaze at the pond was inspiring. Iouths and maidens were actually skating aromd without falling in. But what was the matter? For there sat Caroline all by her lonesome, her haughty head in her hands; in the distance I caught a glimpse of Newell waltzing around with Harriet Shepherd, and at the same time tussing lier at a rapid rate.

" Never thee mind, Caroline," I whispered sympathetically:
"Have the goodness to mind thy own affairs," she blazed forth, assuming an upright position, whereupon I laded into the landscape. Ma Miller and Edith Taylor-red-haired Edith-were entertaining the crowd with a variety of tancy stunts. Florence Simedley and Mr. Stites made an effective looking pair, and seemed to hase discovered the congeniality of their natures. There was Miss Lakens over on the other side of the pond smrounded ly girls withont a boy in sight. But who was that tall, rather lanky, yet very jolly gentleman, who was skating with all the girls and whose roseate countenance were a smile that wouldn't come ofi? Was it Prof. Pace? None other, my friends. And there, too, gracefully turning eurves was Norman Ashe, sporting it with Louise Gary.
"It's too bad abont Rittman," I heard Beecher remark to Krueger, who was standing by me.
"A dad-blasted shame," agreed Krueger.
" But it was mavoidable," said Beecher regretfully.
"What's the trouble". I asked.
"Haven't you heard? Rittman's been suspended for two weeks."

* ls judgment day coming?" 1 asked in a sndden panic.
* He put pins in Dr. Alleman"s chair, and, of comrse, such conduct is unexcusable."
* Did loo swear when he struck the jin point?" 1 asked.
" I r. Alleman swear: Of course not." and Beech looked both grieved and surprised at the suggestion.
" Who is that treak?" I asked juinting ont a rather ragged and mokempt looking youth. sadly in need of a hair-cut and a share.
"Frank Griftin." said Beecher." You know himhes a monk. What's the matter with you anyway ?"
*' hais is getting to be a blankity blank equeer place." I muttered, feeling dizzy at the discomboblated state of my Alma Mater.

Tust at this point Miss Meeteer a]peared: her face. barely visible beneath a large and flosey pompadom, had lost its sweetness and instend was hard and sadedonic.

- 1 want yon all to cease this frimolity at once," she said, " and return to college. I am disappointed in you, one and all, and particularly in you girls. I have lost all desire to help yon. Your indifference to the real interests of swarthmore grows each day more marked. You have no ambition. Return to enllege at once." and behold, the crowd meekly retumed!

At dinnertime 1 noticed that the dining-room had a stranger. unfamiliar look: the walls mere of garnet.
with a border both at top and bottom of green, and the ceiling was of bright blne, sprinkled here and there with silver stars and golden moons. Presently Dr. Newport and llise hoss came in, both looking sporty and Hoss enough to heat the cars. Of all the merry widow creations I erer saw. those on their heals were the merriest. The whisper went romd that they had just returned from Keith"s.
" And they had lunch at the LiAiglon." anded Anne in a horrified whisper. " I heard," she went on, "that Dr. Swain is going to ask then to resign if they don't give up their gat and giddy lives. that are out of tume with the atmosphere of Swarthmore and. loy the way.

Dick, are you going orer to the dance in the gym to-might?"
" What dance?"
" Why, stupid, the regular college dance we have in the gym every week. Wasn't it lovely of Mr. Swain to let the girls and boys dance together over there?"

I pot my hand to my head.
"Poor old Sue," continued Anne." I certainly feel sorry for her."
"For hearen's sake uhy," I asked.
"Don't you know? Because she's heen anked to resign from student exec.. as she was found eanoeing on the Crum at twelve oiclock at night with $-\ldots$, but nerer mind. It wonldn"t be fair to tell."

That night, as I lay im bed, I tried to puzzle out matters and thonght over the other things I had heard. Eren Dr. Lowes had changed. It seems he had had a lazy spell. and decided he wanted rest. He had returned looking fat and well and somewhat taller. Bill sais. but he never same on time. samenterd in after the last bell, and dismissed classes before time in order to satisfy his craring for a smoke. And Prof. Hayes, I'd heard, no longer got off exquisite lyrics, but energetically spent each moment in perfecting his library srstem. Bertha Hepworth and Gurdon Tones had both leen expelled for flomking out in their studies. Katliarine Whitmerer had settled down to the life of a dippry stude. and had just receivel a Ph.D. from Drexel thromgh the merit of a paper she had written on "Domestic Science in the time of Mlfed the Great." Lacretia Shomaker. it seemed, had also given up dancing and flitting, was taking all the stiff courses in college, and had decided to derote herself to a life of classical research. While that noble woman, Elizabeth Burton, had been discovered cribbing on exams and consequently Was asked to leare college. Rex Cain had deciden that. instead of deroting himself to a life of trimolity. he would dedicate his talents to the ministry, and Ed Fell-

What in the dence was the matter? For there was Miss Cole standing orer me, and, res-it was true-her eye had lost its twinkle and leer fiace was anxions.
" Where am I:" I asked.
"Thee's a nice one." she said, a trinkle darming. * haring us all seared theed merer come back to earth! " "What's happened?" I asked, realizing that I felt weak.
*Why thee's been as crazy as a March hare for three days. and all on accoment of that big trash box those naughty bors threw down on thee from fourth."

There's a Rose Bed at Swarthmore

East of Parrish Hall - that is the delight of all who have the chance to see it in bloom. It graces the area north of Somerville Hall, and directly across the driveway from the observatory, and contains no less than 300 varieties. This space was originally graded for a tennis court, but in 1906 Dean Bond turned it into a rose garden. Many of the girls then in college had a part ownership in the plants, and likewise a partnership in the pleasure of picking the roses. That rose bed is continuing to produce a harvest of bloom each season ; partially because it was properly planted and has been well cared for, and partially because the roses were obtained from The Conard & Jones Co., West Grove, Pa., who have the reputation of growing the "Best Roses in America."

THIS FIRM have just published (in addıtion to their regular I 36 page catalog) a little book ABOUT ROSES, which is quite the most valuable monograph on this subject ever produced. It is a trusty guide to successful rose growing, telling what roses to plant, and where and how and when Names 12 best for a bed, the best for an archway, arbor, pergola, porch or rose hedge, and rose beds of all kinds.

It is most beautifully and clearly illustrated, and, in short, will show you how to have a harvest of bloom on your own home lawn. USUAL PRICE $10 c$., but for people who read advertisements in Halcyon, and will say so in a card or letter addressed to Robert Pyle, President of the firm, it will be sent with pleasure and without price.

HEALTH MORE VALUABLE THAN WEALTH

國OOD HEALTH is at the foundation of business success and personal happiness. Men, and women, too, for that matter, in this age of feverish business and social activity, are too apt to neglect the things that bring and preserve good health. It is almost needless to state that good digestion is the basis of good health, and that GOOD TEETH are essential to good digestion. THEREFORE KEEP YOUR TEETH.

NO MATTER what your tooth troubles are I CAN CURE THEM. If you have receding gums, bleeding gums, exposed and aching teeth, if your teeth are loose, if you have pus formation at the roots of teeth, these are specific diseases, for which I have specific treatment. I have given lasting benefit to people suffering with these troubles.

CONSULT ME PERSONALLY, or write to me for directions on treatment. Free examination and advice. Hours, 8.30 to 6.30 p.m. Sundays, 10.00 to 2.00 p.m.
